A = Leading choice | B = Contender | C = Support | X = Not selected | * = Steve override | $ = ITM (In the money)

RACE OVERVIEW

Play the Gray is the strongest of the runners with enough recent sprint evidence to assess. Battle Anthem is a credible alternative, but Steve's two additional top selections, Indy Rags and Light My Way, have incomplete sprint information. This is a race where the unknowns matter.

RACE OVERVIEW

Talented Man brings the strongest overall case and has shown he can compete when the early pace is demanding. Authentic Kingdom could get a comfortable position just behind the leaders and offers a more attractive morning-line price. Downtownchalybrown remains an important contender.

RACE OVERVIEW

Phantom Slayer remains a major winning threat even if the pace is quick. Yautown has shown he can sit close and finish, while Passionforglory is another serious challenger if the front runners begin to tire. The favorite is worth respecting, but the race offers alternatives.

RACE OVERVIEW

Weekend Honor offers the strongest finishing profile in this field. Coppedge and Breezefromtheeast look like the key challengers. The main caution is that Weekend Honor has not raced since June, so the price should compensate for that uncertainty before considering a wager.

RACE OVERVIEW

Preacha Meyers sets the standard and has shown the ability to withstand competition near the front. Happy Offering is a legitimate alternative if the price holds up, with Waitlist and Freedom's Echo useful for the other finishing positions. The favorite should not be dismissed simply because another runner offers value.
